ABSTRACT

The annual tuition, room and board survey of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities indicated an increase in tuition charges and in room and board costs. Inflation is considered a major cause of these changes. (1) In-state undergraduate tuition is up 5.6 percent from the previous year. The median tuition in 1973-74 was $445 (average $490), and the median tuition in 1974-75 was $470 (average $509). (2) Out-of-state undergraduate tuition is up 3.2 percent. In 1973-74, the median tuition was $1,260 (average $1,270), and in 1974-75 the median tuition was $1,301 (average $1,310). (3) Tuition, room and board costs for an in-state undergraduate student are an average of $1,286 this year. An out-of-state student will pay an average of $2,047. (4) 60 percent of the respondents indicated an increase in tuition and fees. Except for the three Vermont AASCU member institutions, which decreased their tuition rates due to a state legislative decision, and Lander College (South Carolina) which became a state institution, all others remained the same. TUITION, ROOM AND BOARD SURVEY
1974-75

The annual tuition, room and board survey of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities indicated an increase in tuition charges, and room and board costs. Inflation is considered a major cause of these changes.

In-state undergraduate tuition is up 5.6 percent from the previous year. The median tuition in 1973-74 was $445(average $490) and the median tuition in 1974-75 was $470(average $509).

Out-of-state undergraduate tuition is up 3.2 percent. In 1973-74, the median tuition was $1260 (average $1270) and in 1974-75, the median tuition was $1301 (average $1310).

Tuition, room and board costs for an in-state undergraduate student are an average of $1286 this year. An out-of-state student will pay an average of $2047.

60 percent of the respondents indicated an increase in tuition and fees. Except for the three Vermont AASCU member institutions, which decreased their tuition rates due to a state legislature decision, and Lander College (South Carolina) which became a state institution, all others remained the same.

Of the institutions that indicated an increase, 5 percent indicated it was because of additional faculty and staff, 22 percent because of an increase in faculty and staff salaries, and 18 percent because of inadequate appropriations by the state legislature. 39 percent found increases necessary to maintain the current level of program quality and 23 percent indicated that there was no other additional source of revenue available. Most significant were the 77 percent of respondents who listed inflation as a cause of the tuition, room and board increases.

Other reasons listed were: to make tuition consistent with other institutions in the state system; rising food prices; rising construction costs; rising utility costs;(all obvious extensions of the inflation problem) and dormitory renovations.
